

Useful media and promotional opportunities

Arts Access® Aotearoa
WHAKAHAUHAU KATOA O HANGA

This is a list of some key media, organisations and individuals interested in hearing about and promoting your work. Arts Access Aotearoa will add to this list as it finds out about additional media and promotional opportunities.

Access Radio

There are eleven community access radio stations from Southland through to Auckland. They're making radio by, for and about the communities they serve. Contact the Association of Community Access Broadcasters for more information and local contact details.

E info@acab.org.nz

W www.acab.org.nz

Arts Access Aotearoa

Advocacy is a key role for Arts Access Aotearoa and it's always keen to write and promote stories that reflect accessible arts practice and an inclusive approach to the arts. Talk to the Communications Manager.

T +64 4 802 4349

E iona.mcnaughton@artsaccess.org.nz

F +64 4 802 4357

W www.artsaccess.org.nz

Attitude TV

A weekly upbeat television magazine series reflecting the lifestyle, issues and interests of people with experience of disability. Funded by New Zealand On Air, it presents a mix of stories: profiles, information about new techniques or technology, issues, arts and sports stories, and the views of disabled people all over the world.

T +64 9 309 4015

E office@attitudetv.co.nz

F +64 9 309 4016

W www.disabilitytv.com

Without Limits

This is a quarterly magazine about disability in New Zealand, and includes profiles, issues, achievements and information. It is owned and edited by John Wolk.

T +64 9 522 2764 | 0274 918 747

E withoutlimits@xtra.co.nz

Diversityworks

Diversityworks runs several social networks on diversity, the arts and creativity. It may be able to promote your accessible arts event, targeting the disability community or people interested in creativity and diversity. See Appendix Five for contact details.

E info@diversityworks.co.nz

W www.diversity.co.nz

New Zealand Federation of Disability Information Centres

A one-stop shop with more than 30 centres throughout New Zealand and a huge client base, this organisation can publicise your arts events or promote your accessible venue to its networks. See Appendix Five for contact details.

T 0800 69 33 42

W www.nzfdic.org.nz

NZLive.com

Profile your organisation and list your events on this Ministry for Culture and Heritage's website. It's a free service and when you enter events on NZLive.com, they may also appear on more than 30 other websites, thanks to the NZLive.com team. Email NZlive.com for more information; to have your press releases published in the news section; and to be featured in the organisations directory. For those of you who don't have a web presence, you can use NZLive.com as your website.

E info@nzlive.com

W www.nzlive.com

One in Five

This Radio New Zealand National programme goes to air every Sunday after the 7pm news. It has a broad brief, and includes interviews with leading commentators on disability issues and disabled people achieving in the arts, sports and education. It is presented and produced by Mike Gourley.

T +64 4 474 1999

E oneinfive@radionz.co.nz

F +64 4 474 1876

W www.radionz.co.nz

The Big Idea

This is New Zealand's largest online community of people in the creative sector. It includes arts news and events, celebrates success, profiles role models, offers work and income opportunities, builds connections – and much more. You need to be a member to contribute to the site but membership is free. Visit its website for more information and contact details.

W www.thebigidea.co.nz

> Online resource: Disability Media Information Sheet

For the full picture about arts and accessibility in New Zealand, you can download Arts For All | Ngā toi mo te katoa, published by Creative New Zealand in partnership with Arts Access Aotearoa, 2009.

> www.artsaccess.org.nz/index.php/arts-and-disability
